

Abstract Of The Disclosure

A personal organizational accessory having a main body and a sliding panel. The main body having a slot and a protecting portion. The sliding panel being longitudinally received in the main body the slot and into the protecting portion. The sliding panel including a stopping device adapted to prevent the removal of a sliding device inserted into the main body.